

Make Billing Integration a Priority, Not an Afterthought

ZCorum's provisioning and diagnostics tools are integrated with billing providers to help your team increase efficiency, reduce costs, and eliminate frequent errors from duplicate data entry.

Why System Integration is So Important

In our industry, rapidly changing technology makes gaining the most out of your financial and human resources a main priority. Billing integration is one of the best solutions to realize that. An integrated billing system will stream-line your processes, maximize profit and ensure efficiency.

Unfortunately, billing integration is often overlooked. If your billing processes aren't integrated with your provisioning and diagnostics tools, it introduces inefficiency, and increases the chance for significant data errors. It's time-consuming to keep up with the ever-expanding data you're collecting from your subscribers in multiple systems. By integrating your billing system with ZCorum's systems, you'll not only see increased efficiency and effectiveness, but you'll reduce the disruption associated with having all your data in different places.

Easier for Your Staff

Integration allows your staff to work from a single system, eliminating duplicate "swivel-chair" entry. Changes can be made from one location in BroadHub, instead of within multiple systems. This reduces data entry time, and inconvenience for your staff.

Cost Savings

Having all your data in one central location will reduce costs associated with managing and maintaining multiple systems. You will reduce the costs from errors that would invariably be made, and the chance of former customers receiving service when they are no longer in your billing system.

Faster Updating and More Accurate Data

Duplicate entry, or transferring data from one system to another, will always take more time. And when you make changes to two systems, it can be a problem keeping your data up-to-date. Only through an integrated system will your data be transferred to your preferred system in real-time, resulting in more accurate and timely decisions.

ZCorum
4501 North Point Parkway
Suite 125
Alpharetta, GA 30022
1-800-909-9441

No integration fees from ZCorum for the integration of your billing provider with ZCorum's provisioning or diagnostics tools.