MANAGED PROVISIONING FOR BROADBAND DEVICES

ADVANCED PROVISIONING SERVICE

[intro music]

Provisioning CPE isn't very exciting; certainly nothing your customers would get excited about unless, of course, it's not working.

Provisioning is still very much a critical piece of the broadband service you provide, and there are some excellent provisioning systems out there, but they require extensive upfront investments, and equipment, and licenses, and can be complicated to set up and maintain, and it's only getting worse now with IPv6.

There's a way, though, to avoid all those high costs and headaches.

ZCorum's Advance Provisioning service.

We offer Incognito's industry-leading provisioning platform, and we make it easy and affordable.

We set up everything, we manage the equipment for you, and we provision your devices as a managed service.

That's right.

No need to buy equipment or keep it up-to-date.

We host everything in our data center and offer management of the system.

Now, prefer to host the server yourself?

We can do that, plus we'll still manage the server and software updates.

Either way, you'll save a ton of money.
